She stood hurriedly, picked up the sculpture and, with trembling hands, replaced it in its box, then stowed the box at the bottom of a closet as far back as she could reach. Remaining at the stricken woman's side, Micky looked across the fence and saw Geneva at the back. Stanislau slipped the compad into his pocket. "You don't wanna know about that," he said. "It's not very respectable." "So why bother?" Jay asked. "What's it to you if somebody else's house needs painting or not?" "Hanlon wants me at the gate for something," Colman said. "Talk to you in a few minutes." Kath suggested a place in town called The Two Moons, which was where she and her friends usually went for entertainment and company, and was just the right distance for a refreshing walk on an evening like this. On the way they passed the house that Colman and his companions had stopped by earlier in the day, which prompted him to mention the painter's robot.
