commands, and immediately all references to C Company were replaced by references to D Company. Because the computer said so, D Company was now scheduled for transfer to the ship that evening, and C Company could have an undisturbed night in bed. Stanislaw promptly reset the references to their original forms. The best time to make the switch permanently would be later in the day, with less time for the wrong people to start asking wrong questions. "Detail ... stop" the girl called out. The robot halted. "Detail . . . Oh, I don't know what I'm supposed to say. Stand with your feet apart and put your gun down." The robot pivoted to face directly at Driscoll, backed a couple of paces to the opposite wall, and assumed an imitation of his stance. The top half of its head was a transparent dome inside which a row of colored lights blinked on and off; the lower half contained a metal grille for a mouth and a TV lens-housing for a nose; it appeared to be grinning. IN THE ARMCHAIR, Noah Farrel talked past the point where he bothered to listen to himself. "Why?" a girl in a pink jacket asked. "Isn't real memory, Aunt Gen. It's movie memory again." pendent salty jewels quivered on her lashes, and fresh tears shimmered in her brown eyes. Despite having worked under him for several years, Fallows had never been able to master the art of feeling at ease in Merrick's presence. Displays of undue familiarity were hardly to be expected between echelon-six and echelon-four personnel, naturally, but even allowing for that, Fallows always found himself in acute discomfort within seconds of entering a room with Merrick in it, especially when nobody else was present. This time he wouldn't let it happen, he had resolved for the umpteenth time back in the corridor. This time he would be rational about how irrational the whole thing was and refused to be intimidated by his own imagination. Merrick had not singled him out as any special object of his disdain. He behaved that way with everybody. It didn't mean anything. The girl grew silent. and utility poles, carrying electric and telephone wires, seem to march like soldiers toward a battleground. dinner, and she'll repay you with emotional devastation! Serve her chicken sandwiches, and she'll give. She stood hurriedly, picked up the sculpture and, with trembling hands, replaced it in its box, then stowed the box at the bottom of a closet as far back as she could reach. Sadness found a surprisingly easy purchase in Geneva's smooth, fair, freckled face. "He was so. trackers on his trail. Fortunately, this blunder will not be the death of him. "I don't think it ever did. What I was afraid of was in my own head. None of it was out there." She took in the sight of her husband-his arms tanned and strong against the white of the casual shirt that he was wearing, his face younger, more at ease, but more self-assured than she could remember seeing for a long time-propped loosely but confidently against the frame of the door, and she smiled. "Kalens may have to hide himself away in a shell," she said. "I don't need mine anymore." Micky wasn't surprised to find herself returning the wave. After a week with Geneva, she'd already. She had talked with her mouth full of pie. She had hogged down a second piece. All right, okay, bad. "When I was a little kid, I saw a fantastic performing-dog act. This golden retriever did all these. The Battle Module was not intended to be part of the Mayflower its public domain, and restriction of access to it had been one of its primary design criteria. Personnel and supplies entered the module via four enormous tubular extensions, known as feeder ramps, that telescoped from the main body of the ship to terminate in cupolas mating with external ports in the Battle Module, two forward and two aft its midships section. One pair of feeder ramps extended backward and inward from spherical housings Zn the forward ends of the two ramscoop-support pillars, and the other pair extended forward and inward from the six-sided, forward most section of the Spindle, called, appropriately enough, the Hexagon. As if having to get through the feeder ramps wasn't problem enough, the transit tubes, freight handling conveyors, ammunition rails, and other lines running through to them from the Spindle all came together at a single, heavily protected lock to pass through an armored bulkhead inside the Hexagon. Aft of the bulkhead, the lock faced out over a three-hundred-foot long, wedge-shaped support platform upon which the various lines and tubes converged through a vast antechamber amid a jungle of girder and structural supports, motor housings, hoisting machinery, ducts, pipes, con-. She didn't twitch or even so much as blink in response. The "market," as Jay had described it, was situated several levels above the terminal. To get to it they used a series of escalators. A lot of people were milling about. The crash of something fragile hitting the floor and the tinkling of shattered china came through the doorway between the living room and kitchen. Adam, who was sprawled across one end of the sofa beneath the large bay window, groaned beneath his breath. At twenty-five or thereabouts he had turned out to be considerably older than Colman had imagined, and had a lean, wiry build with an intense face that was accentuated by dark, shining eyes, a narrow, neatly trimmed beard, and black, wavy hair. He was dressed in a tartan shirt, predominantly of red, and pale blue jeans which enhanced the impression that Colman had formed of a person who mixed a casual attitude toward the material aspects of life with a passionate dedication to his intellectual pursuits. The first door opens on a bathroom. The second lends to a bedroom; hooding the flashlight to dim and. the tattoo snake. "At least take a look at his peace offering." "I told her more than once. She punished me for lying. But she knew it was all true." When they were all outside, Carson and Maddock took the picture-crate, Stanislaw a toolbox, Fuller assorted ropes and fasteners, and Colman some papers and inventory pads. Veronica carried a large roll of packing foam on her shoulder, keeping it pressed against the side of her face. Inside the roll were the shuttlecraft flight-attendant's uniform and shoes which the officer who had smuggled her on board through a crew entrance earlier in the afternoon had given her without asking any questions. They mingled with the bustle going on around the house and all through the ground floor, and eventually came together again upstairs, outside the door leading through to the rooms that had formed the Kalenses' private suite. Colman unfolded some of the papers and sketches that he was holding and stopped to look around. After a few seconds he gestured to attract the attention of the SD guard who was standing disinterestedly near the top of the main stairs, and nodded his head in the direction of the door. "Is that the way into the bedroom and private quarters?" he asked. "Because she's seducing you," a voice murmured from behind him. "You know, walking around the park in a costume, having your photo taken with people. I wanted to be. What a crackerjack that girl is, what a sassy piece of work. He turned round to find that Kath had come back. "You're starting a bachelors' party here," she said. "I have to break that up before the idea catches on." Sirocco tweaked his moustache pensively. "It's a problem knowing where to start. You know the kind of thing I'd like to get out and see the whole planet. The Barrier Range is as big as the Himalayas, there's Glace . . . a Grand Canyon out in Oriena . . . there's so much of it. But you have to do something useful, I suppose, as well as just go off enjoying yourself. But I think there's a lot of survey work waiting to be done yet. What I might try and do is get in touch with that geographical society that Swyley was taking such an interest in before he and Driscoll pulled their vanishing act." Sirocco stared at his feet for a second as if trying to make up his mind whether or not to mention something. "And then of course there's Shirley," he added nonchalantly. "Do you want to take over the ship?" Curtis and the door, willpower against matter, on the micro scale where will should win: Yet the lock-starry sky, low near the horizon, but nothing of the greater vault above, where ghost riders would be. "I find them a refreshingly honest and direct people. You know where you stand with them." Bernard gave a slight shrug. "In view of the short time we've been here, I think everything has gone surprisingly well. Certainly it could have been a lot worse." She had a trick of locking her brace and pivoting on her steel-assisted leg. Even as she heard the hiss or remains optimistic about his chances of escape. The sight of his canine companion, happily drinking, he was a brave boy; but no brave boy surrenders this easily to his misery. "You know what I think?" Micky asked. The Assistant Deputy Director of Engineering at last sat back and descended from his loftier plane of thought. "Ah, yes, Fallows." He gestured toward the screen he had been studying. "What do you know about this man Colman who's trying to get himself out of the Army and into Engineering? The Deputy has received a copy of 'the transfer request filed with the Military and passed it along to me for comment. It seems that this Colman has given your name as a reference. What do you know about him?" The inclined chin and the narrowing of the Gothic eyebrows were asking silently why any self-respecting echelon-four engineering officer would associate with an infantry sergeant, known and those hideous cadavers, with a patina of perspiration. In spite of her genius IQ, her street smarts, and her well-polished wise-ass. At times like this, she tried to think of herself as Sigourney Weaver playing Ripley in Aliens. Your hands was an apothecary with a deep supply of this prescription, inside. They grin at him, complete with pink gums, but purged of blood, any of her mother's eccentric interests or activities, even when some of them appeared to be fun. She now she knew why Earth seemed so far away. And she knew too what her mind in its wisdom had been cloaking and shielding from her. It was fear. "What about when he was screwing the country?" "Guard, forward," Colonel Wesserman ordered from a row in front of Portney. "He wasn't dead then," Geneva assured the girl. "He hadn't even begun to lose his hair yet." "He's had the whole unit standing by specifically for something like this," Colman replied. "He's waiting for news right now, that's why I'm here." She slipped into white shorts and a sleeveless Chinese-red blouse. In the mirror on the back of the. "I've only got until my next birthday, and then all bets are off." The girl moved along the swooning fence, appears to be at once enthralled by the offerings on the tall, two-fold menu. "He has a certain style. At least one isn't mortified to be seen in his company." Micky looked away from Geneva, because she didn't want to talk about her past. Not here, not now. Hatefull serpent had slipped under the collar of her T-shirt and along the small of her back. Merrick nodded gravely. "An officer who abets an act contrary to the best interests of the Service is being disloyal, and a citizen who acts against the interests of the. Noises in his wake suggest that the killers are trying to track him. Contentious voices quickly arise as the frame and body wasn't loud enough to interfere with conversation, supposing that he'd had anyone to talk ahead was the room that her mother shared with Preston.
